

Are You Ready to Navigate New Models of Care and Coverage?

Thursday, May 28, 2015
Empire State Plaza – Albany NY
Meeting Room 2-4

Who should attend

Home health provider and health plan CEOs, CFOs, COOs and those who need a better understanding of emerging care models to position successfully in a new service and payment delivery environment.

With the enactment of far-reaching health care reforms at the federal and state levels, changes to the health care delivery and payment systems are evolving quickly. To jump-start these initiatives, policymakers are incentivizing the creation of new models that focus on the seamless integration of health care delivery, providing value, high quality care and targeted outcomes.

It is critical for the home care community to understand how these new models work, how they are financed, and how they are constructed. In addition, the provider community needs to be prepared to position themselves competitively and effectively in these new models.

This workshop is designed to be informative, thought-provoking and relevant as you position your organization in this environment of change and in this environment of health care service delivery and payment reform evolution. Don't miss this opportunity!

9:00am

Welcome and HCA Update

Joanne Cunningham, President

9:15am to 10:30am

The State's Roadmap on New Models of Care

New York State continues to rapidly reform its Medicaid program and work collaboratively with the federal government on introducing and facilitating the adoption of new models of care, coverage, service delivery and financing. Hear from New York's health care and Medicaid reform leader about the state's vision in the adoption of new models of care delivery, as New York State's Medicaid program evolves with a focus on care delivery through Managed Long Term Care plans, Fully-Integrated Duals Advantage plans, Delivery System Reform Incentive Payments (DSRIP) and others. This session will help you understand the state's continued priorities, areas of focus, and expectations for how you can fully participate in these and emerging models.

Jason Helgerson, State Medicaid Director, Deputy Commissioner, New York State Department of Health

10:30am to 11:30am

Value Based Payment – Positioning for Home Health Providers

State and federal reforms are prompting massive and far-reaching changes that affect how health care and home care services are delivered. These reforms are also driving change in the financing of and payment for care. Understanding how new payment models work, how they are constructed and how the payment incentives function is critical as you plan for a successful future. With the advent of Value Based Payment Models, successful providers are compelled to learn ways of positioning themselves competitively. Hear from the State of New York's lead contractor about how VBP models work, how outcomes are measured and how this model aims to improve value and outcomes while reducing the costs of care.

Marc Berg, MD, Ph.D., Partner, Global Center of Excellence for Health, KPMG

11:45am to 12:45pm

DSRIP Lessons Learned and Next Steps

One of the most recent innovations in delivery system reform came in the form of a waiver with the federal government that set in motion the plan for a larger focus on outcomes, payment and service delivery integration. This initiative, the Delivery System Reform Incentive Payment (DSRIP) program, aims to promote collaboration among health care and community care providers, transform health care service and reduce re-hospitalizations while offering incentives and rewards for high quality outcomes. Hear from the state's DSRIP implementer about how DSRIP is transforming payment and services for patients and the lessons learned in the rollout and adoption of this innovative initiative.

Greg Allen, Director of the Division of Program Development and Management within the New York State Office of Health Insurance Programs (OHIP).

AGENDA

12:45pm to 1:30pm

Lunch and the Opportunity to Share Ideas with Your Peers

1:30pm to 2:30pm

Re-Tooling Your Operation to Achieve Success in New Models of Care and Service Delivery

DSRIP implementation poses unprecedented challenges and opportunities for performing providers systems (PPSs) and the providers who participate in them. This session will focus on assisting participating providers to anticipate, understand, and tackle DSRIP developments in the first year, including fund flow models and potential funding opportunities emerging from PPSs, project participation, regulatory waivers, and PPS compliance and HIPAA requirements.

Tracy E. Miller, Bond Schoeneck and King

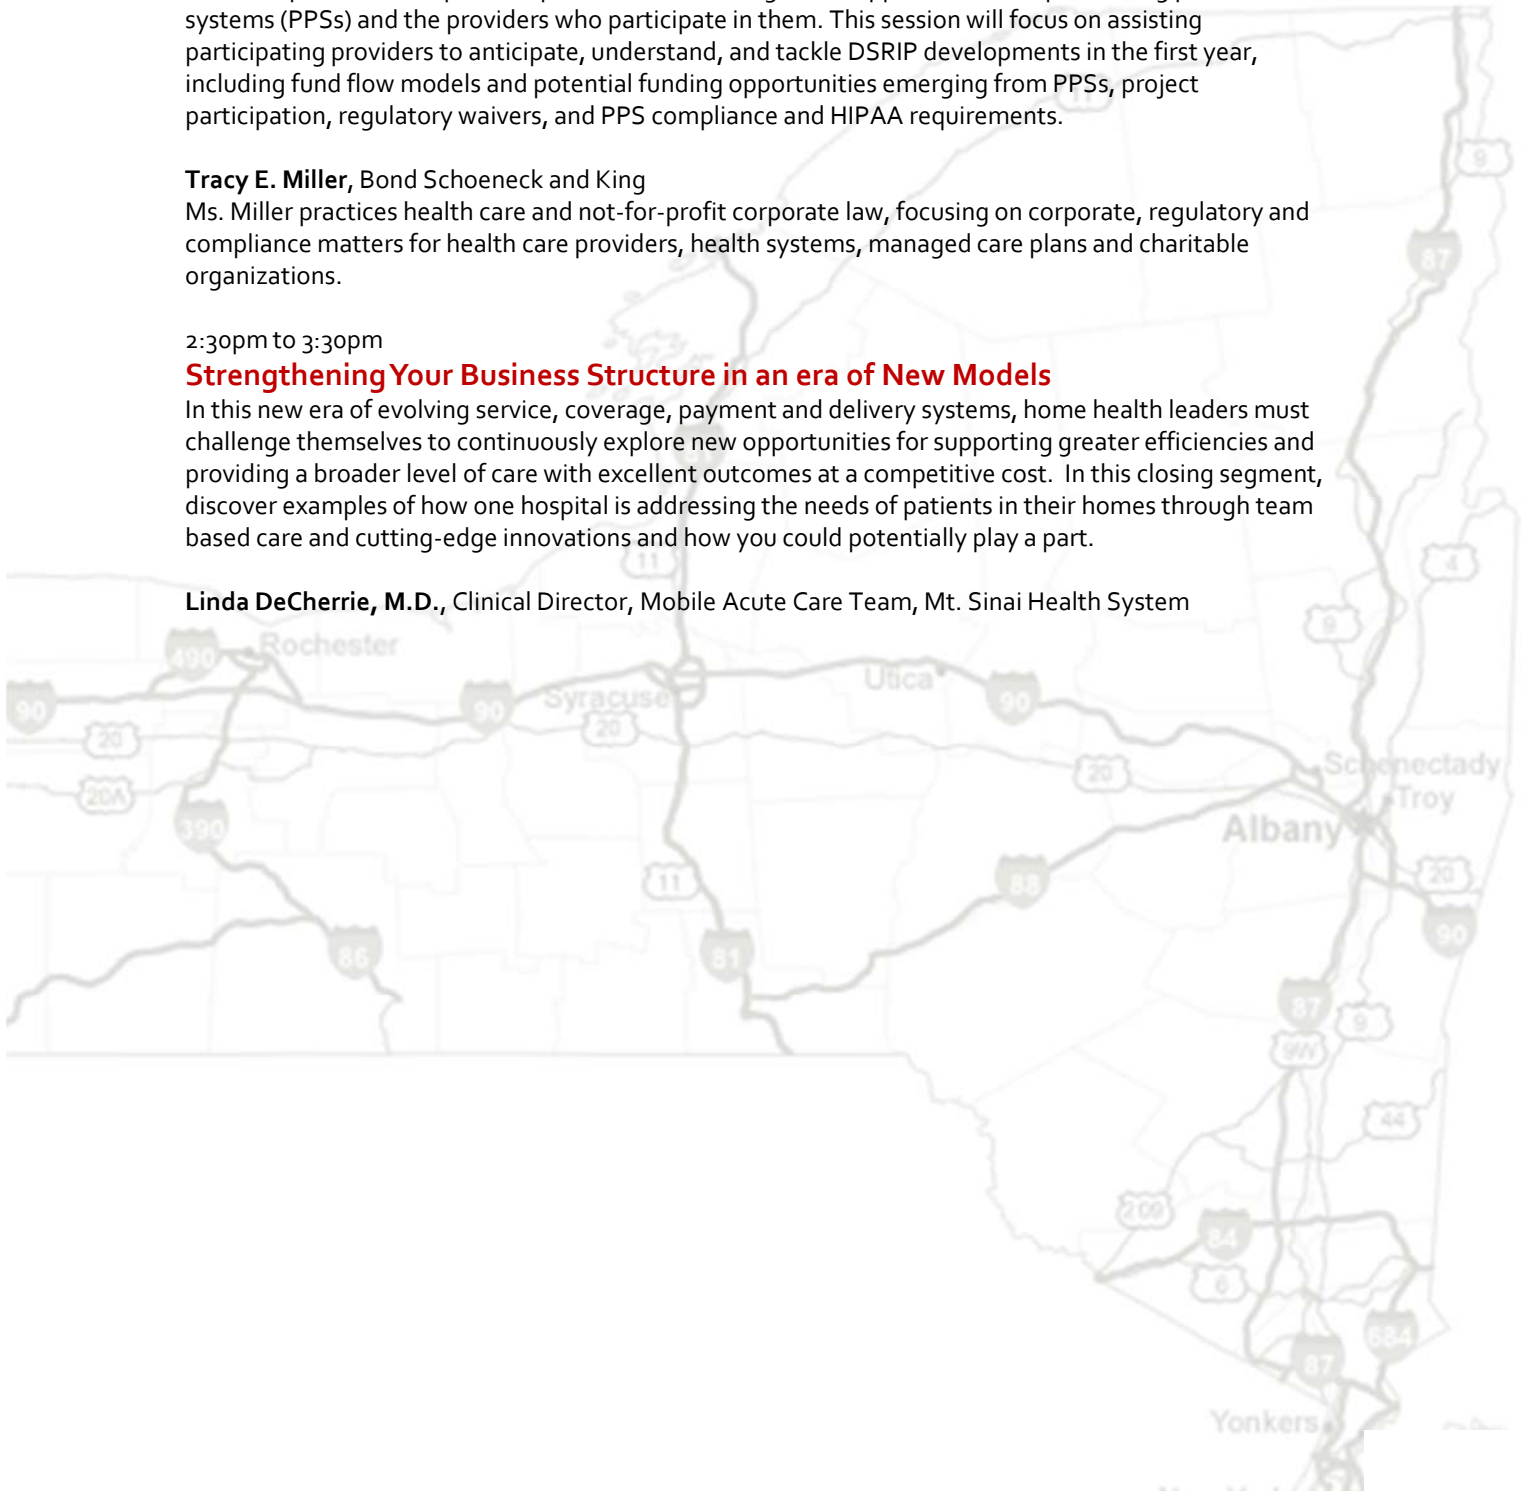

Ms. Miller practices health care and not-for-profit corporate law, focusing on corporate, regulatory and compliance matters for health care providers, health systems, managed care plans and charitable organizations.

2:30pm to 3:30pm

Strengthening Your Business Structure in an era of New Models

In this new era of evolving service, coverage, payment and delivery systems, home health leaders must challenge themselves to continuously explore new opportunities for supporting greater efficiencies and providing a broader level of care with excellent outcomes at a competitive cost. In this closing segment, discover examples of how one hospital is addressing the needs of patients in their homes through team based care and cutting-edge innovations and how you could potentially play a part.
