

Celebrate November National Home Care and Hospice Month: Join HCA and #HomeCareConnect!

November is National Home Care and Hospice Month – a time to draw focus to the vital role that home care and hospice play in the care and quality of life of patients.

Consider what you or your organization can do to celebrate National Home Care and Hospice Month through HCA's #HomeCareConnect campaign.

Find some ideas and take the #HomeCareConnect pledge – or make your own pledge – by visiting <https://hca-nys.org/general-news/homecareconnect>.

Why #HomeCareConnect?

Home care touches your life, in the work you do and the organizations you support. You or a loved one might even be among the 400,000 people in New York who have received home care in a given year from extraordinarily dedicated nurses, aides, therapists and other individuals who help keep patients out of the hospital and as independent as possible.

Yet home care also faces challenges getting recognition for what it does, its role supporting the overall health care system while saving costs, and the exceptional work of thousands who deliver critical services to the chronically ill, elderly and persons with disabilities.

Please help us recognize their work in any way you can.
