Immigrants comprise a large and integral part of the home care and hospice workforce. As such, it is imperative that your agency's HR policies and practices comply with all pertinent laws and regulations. This webinar, presented by labor and employment immigration expert Joanna Silver of Bond, Schoeneck & King, will review the new "public charge" rule that is effective October 15, 2019; Social Security "no-match" letters; Form I-9 compliance; and other relevant issues.

Presented by:

Joanna Silver

Member, Labor and Employment, Immigration and Higher Education Practice Areas Bond, Schoeneck & King

For more than 20 years, Joanna has served as both attorney-representative and confidant to colleges and universities. She has facilitated the immigration of international faculty to college campuses from more than 35 countries around the world by steering her institutional clients through the increasingly complex menu of work authorization options, including non-immigrant visa petitions (H-1B, O-1, etc.), immigrant visa petitions (PERM, outstanding professor or researcher, persons of extraordinary ability and special recruitment permanent residence petitions), and student issues (F-1, J-1, OPT, SEVIS, etc.). Joanna also advises her clients in employment issues, from Form I-9 compliance to taxation issues. Joanna regularly represents clients before the New York State Division of Human Rights and the U.S. Department of Education's Office for Civil Rights.
